

Our Purpose and Values

We experience the world through the lens we choose. We may confine ourselves to narrow thinking and walk the paths of ignorance, yet at the end of life, it is not enough to say, "I lived." Far worse is realizing, in the final moment, "I never truly lived wholeheartedly."

The purpose of this website is to invite exploration—of the world within and the world beyond—through freedom of thought, guided by philosophy, psychology, and knowledge, so that the regret of a life un-lived may be softened.

This purpose stands upon three pillars: Curiosity, Knowledge, and Freedom. They are the foundation of this house, supporting a life lived fully, sincerely, and with purpose.
